2.6 Data Analysis Questions

Analyze the LEA's data and answer the guiding questions to determine existing trends and patterns that support the identification of demographic and financial needs. Student subgroups with a count of less than 15 are denoted by "TFS" (too few students).

What perception data did you use? [examples: student perceptions about school climate issues (health survey, violence, prejudice, bullying, etc.); student/parent perceptions about the effectiveness of programs or interventions; student understanding of relationship of school to career or has an academic plan]	Teacher/staff survey, parent/stakeholder survey, student health surveys, entrance and exit surveys!-a=1--!-a=1--!-a=1--
What does the perception data tell you? (perception data can describe people's knowledge, attitudes, beliefs, perceptions, competencies; perception data can also answer the question "What do people think they know, believe, or can do?")	Areas that indicate the highest level of satisfaction included: ● Rules, practices, and procedures that maintain a safe, orderly learning environment are proactively developed, communicated, and consistently implemented across the school ● The school staff consistently provides a comprehensive system of support to maximize the personal growth and development of almost all students Areas that indicate lower level of satisfaction included: (rated as emerging) ● Some teachers create an academically challenging environment ● Some students use tools to actively monitor their own progress ● The grading practices used by teachers in some content areas, grade levels, or both provide an accurate indication of student progress on the required standards ● Some processes are in place and used occasionally to analyze data to improve student achievement ● Limited relationships and decision-making processes have been initiated by the school to build capacity for family and community engagement ● The school occasionally develops the capacity of families to use support strategies at home that will enhance academic achievement !-a=1--!-a=1--!-a=1--

What does the process data tell you?
(process data describes the way programs are conducted; provides evidence of participant involvement in programs; answers the question "What did you do for whom?")

Structures and process exist to support shared leadership in which the entire staff has collective responsibility for student learning and engages in collaborative inquiry focused on continuous improvement to develop students emotionally and academically. Data demonstrates that the vision and mission are translated into everyday practice and the results in the success of related school goals. Formal and frequent opportunities exist for staff to collaborate on success, challenges, and ongoing PLCs are utilized to focus on strengthening instructional practices. Feedback from the faculty, staff, students, parents, and community stakeholders have assisted in identifying areas of strength and areas for needed growth.

3. NEEDS IDENTIFICATION AND ROOT CAUSE ANALYSIS

3.1 Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Read the trends and patterns summaries from each section of the data analysis process. Use the information in these summaries to complete 3.2 and 3.3. Using the summaries in 3.1 and other local data, describe the strengths and challenges or answer the guiding questions for each program. Include strengths and challenges related to: a) general program implementation, and b) students and adults involved in or affected by the program. Focus on strengths and challenges that will assist in the identification of needs during 3.3.

Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Coherent Instructional: Summarize the coherent instructional system trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	Coherent Instructional System Structures include: Planning for quality and rigorous instruction, monitoring student progress and refining the instructional systems. In most classrooms, the learning environment is supportive and well managed where individual student needs are met through a system of flexible grouping strategies to provide differentiated instruction. Through teacher self reflection and observation it was noted that teachers would like more work in the following areas: More time for collaboration; subject areas align with lesson plan and unit plans; performance tasks, along with continued Canvas training, focus on rubrics, checklists, exemplars for students to monitor their own progress and more data analysis of assessment results to adjust instruction. !----comment node----!-a=1--
Effective Leadership: Summarize the effective leadership trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	Through a collaborative process a common mission and vision have been developed and clear expectations for instructional practice have been provided. It is clear that fostering positive relationships is key to student and staff success at The Foundry. It has been identified that more work is needed to ensure effective implementation of curriculum and instruction, and refining the process of data analysis to improve student learning.!--a=1--
Professional Capacity: Summarize the professional capacity trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	All instructional staff participate in job embedded professional learning in Professional Learning Communities (PLCs), which includes collaborative lesson planning, problem solving sessions, and some classroom observations. Teachers will be provided with additional support in meeting and documenting professional learning goals. However, there is not a process to monitor and evaluate the impact of professional learning on staff practices and student learning beyond follow-up with feedback and the opportunity for reflection. • Continued focus on techniques for classroom instruction focusing on the use of lesson components within PLCs • Increased opportunities for teacher collaboration (Department and Cross Curricular) ● Develop a process to monitor and evaluate professional learning and its impact on student learning !-a=1--

Family and Community Engagement: Summarize the family and community engagement trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	The school has made great progress in creating an environment that welcomes, encourages and connects family and community members to the school. Through stakeholder and teacher surveys it has been identified that more community outreach would be beneficial. Such as: bilingual open house, family nights, improved communication. Serve as a hub for promoting parent education by linking families with community resources. !----comment node----!-a=1--!----comment node----!-a=1--
Supportive Learning Environment: Summarize the supportive learning environment trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	A common vision and mission have been developed through a collaborative process and communicated to most stakeholders. Rules, practices, and procedures that maintain a safe, orderly learning environment are consistently implemented across the school and revised as needed. Evidence exists that a culture of trust and respect has been established and continues to be a focus for the school. A sustained commitment to promoting positive interactions and a sense of community is evident. However, continued focus on connecting instruction with future job/career is needed. ● Students develop a sense of personal responsibility (self monitoring, sharing, exhibiting and self reflection) !-a=1--!-a=1--
Demographic and Financial: Summarize the demographic and financial trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	Due to The Foundry demographics changing each semester, for this past School year were 80% male, 20% female, 51% Hispanic, 17% African American and 30% Caucasian, roughly 91%% of which had free and reduced lunch. The student population included approximately 33% of students receiving SPED services, 22% English Language Learner services. !-a=1--!-a=1--

Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Student Achievement: Summarize the student achievement trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	The Foundry achievement data is challenging as we test small numbers of students and many of our students test at their home school. The trend is low achievement.!--a=1--!--a=1--

Include strengths and challenges related to: a) general program implementation, and b) students and adults involved in or affected by the program. Focus on strengths and challenges that will assist in the identification of needs during 3.3.

Strengths	Our strength for our Special Education community would be the fact that we lend ourselves to 1 on 1 focus with our students and lower case loads for our special education students. As well as the lower student to teacher ration to allow all students specifically those with needs more direct attention.!--a=1--!--a=1--!--a=1--
